Discipline and Doubt

Discipline matters most on the days you do not feel like doing the work. Everyone has good days where motivation is high and everything feels easy. Real progress is built on the days when energy is low and the mood is not right.

Those are the moment were small actions make a big difference. Even a little effort keeps the connection with your goal alive and prevents long breaks that slow everything down.

Disciple is showing up in a manageable way, even when things are not perfect. Over time, this builds reliability. You stop depending on how you feel and start depending on what you decide. Your progress grows when your actions are not controlled by your mood.

Doubt is part of every journey. But doubt does not define your potential it only tests your belief in yourself and your trust in the Lord - I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.

If you allow doubt to control your decisions, it can keep you from opportunities that could change your life. Being confident is not the absence of doubt; it is the courage to act despite it. Rise above your doubts, learn from your mistakes, and keep moving forward.

Copied and adapted

Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ:

Philippians 1:6;

Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths.
Proverbs 3:5, 6;
